Kyrik,

A Hyperion question directed your way.

Thanks,
Ron

Kyrik Rombough -

Kyrik, i talked to you on the phone 2 or 3 days ago about hyperion resources and requirements for a Title V application. i am curious as to whether or not a company has to officially declare its intent before they submit an application on clean air. to my knowledge, as of today hyperion has merely suggested that union county is a finalist in the selection site for a refinery. have they officially said that they intend to build a refinery in south dakota or are they just probing the possibilities? if they have not committed, can they still apply for a construction permit?

thanks,,
